

Printing House townhouse hits market for $14M

📅 May 15, 2014

421 Hudson Street

One of the two townhouses at the Printing House is now on the market for $14 million.

The four-bedroom, six-bath, 4,228-square-foot townhouse features an elevator, fireplace and roof deck with an enclosed media room and wet bar, as well as a full-floor master suite, Curbed reported.

The former industrial building at 421 Hudson Street, which was converted from rentals to condos by developers Belvedere Capital Management and Angelo Gordon and designed by workshop/apd, features 58 one- to four-bedroom luxury condominium units, in addition to three maisonettes and two townhouses.

TRD previously reported that the condo building was 50 percent sold after seven months. Seven of the condo units are currently available, according to the Printing House's website. The second townhouse is expected to hit the market soon at $12.5 million. [Curbed] — Sasha von Oldershausen
